Officers Injured When Pea Strikers Give Battle

LOCAL CHILDREN TO SEE IRONSIDES ON FRIDAY

Township school children are looking forward to Friday's excursion to Oakland to make a tour of inspection of "Old Ironsides," famous American frigate. The children will leave by train from Niles at about nine o'clock on Friday morning. Arrangements had not yet been completed for a special train to take the group to the foot of Clay street, so that there would be a minimum of walking. A special rate was made by the Southern Pacific Company to accomodate the excursionists. Children will be accompanied by teachers.

Old Ironsides has been entirely rehabilitated by funds contributed by school children of the nation. Each child gave what he could toward the restoration of the old fighting ship.

The naval department, in order to allow more children to see the object of their gifts, arranged to have Old Ironsides towed to all seaport towns of the United States. It is said that clamorous hordes of children swarm over it at every port of call.

AUNT ELSIE CLUB MEETS TOMORROW AT NILES SCHOOL

At the last meeting of Niles branch of the Aunt Elsie Club officers were elected and plans made for further expansion of the organization. Members were to have assembled at Niles Grammar school April 14, but the date was changed to this afternoon April 20, on account of Easter school vacation.

Officers elected were as follows: Emily Correa, chief witch; Betty Denton, assistant chief witch; Ilene Wittenmeyer, keeper of the scrolls; Florence Martinelli, sender of messages, and Lorraine Peterson, keeper of the treasure chest.

A roport was made by Mrs. J. W. Myers, adult advisor, that up to date fifty-six members had joined this organization. Children of this district are showing a great interest in its activities, and are working hard to win various prizes and awards by submitting many stories and drawings to the Aunt Elsie club magazine.

Club officals urge all members and prospective members to attend the meeting at Niles Grammar school today at three o'clock. New business matters and projects of great importance are to be discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Antone Garcia, of Niles, spent Easter Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Marino Iacopi, of San Francisco. They also visited there, Garcia's brother, Manuel Garcia. They were accompanied by Frank Davilla.

TEAR GAS USED TO DISPERSE MOB ON HENRY MAY RANCH

Demonstrators Organize In Union For Cannery and Farm Work

Alleged communist agitators, in an attempt to intimidate pea pickers on the Henry May farm, last Sunday battled police officers near Decoto. The officers were compelled to use tear gas bombs on the demonstrators, who threatened officers after being prevented from molesting pickers on the May place.

In the ensuing struggle, several officers as well as members of the crowd received minor injuries. Motorcycle Officer J. A. Larsen suffered a severe cut when he was struck on the head by a missile thrown by a striker. Deputy Constable A. Vervais' right hand was broken, and Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch received bruises of the right arm when he intercepted a blow meant for one of his fellow officers.

One of the demonstrators was taken into custody.

Sunday's fracas at Decoto was the worst in this area since the beginning of the strike last week. The strikers are organized under the name of "Cannery and Agricultural Workers Union" and have been molesting valley producers of peas and spinach. At Ville Vista last Friday morning six men were arrested for trespassing and distributing handbills of anarchic content. The circulars, written in Spanish and English, exhorted pickers to strike, and demanded a wage of one cent per pound for peas. Handbills further urged pickers to refuse work through contractors and to support union committees which would be established.

Spinach was included in the strike early this week when agitators invaded fields near Alvarado. Several men were threatened.

Various American workers in this area signified their willingness to pick peas at prices offered by the growers last week. Several said they had been supporting their families through the winter on thirty dollars a month, and that they were entirely able to get along on a like sum this summer. The spirit manifested by these workers is in sharp contrast with that of the strikers, whose ranks are predominantly made up of Mexicans and Porto Ricans. Many Mexicans who refused to work have been receiving aid throughout the winter from various county and local charities. The situation was further complicated by the annual influx of itinerant pickers, who seemed to go over to the striking faction in a body.

Local charitable organizations, as well as county aid sources investigated numerous cases of local strikers, with the intention of stopping aid for all who refused to accept work at prices set by

WATER DISTRICT TESTS STREAM SEEPAGE

A Tilley, of the San Francisco Water Department, and Wm. Dutra, local surveyor, are working in conjunction with federal authorities on measuring the water release from Caleveras dam. According to Dutra, he and Tilley are measuring seepage between the dam and the Western Pacific railroad bridge west of Niles. The work is under supervision of the water district.

Water released at Calevares dam is measured in acre feet at the point of release, and due to seepage loss is slightly diminished in volume when it reaches the head of the Niles cone. Water district officials here wish to discover the exact diminution in the original volumn let down from the dam.

Miss Lillian McHoul New Welfare Official

Miss Lillian McHoul, of Berkeley, has taken over the county welfare work on family cases in this area. Miss McHoul has affices in Irvington, Decoto, Niles and Centerville, at each of which she spends some part of each day.

NILES RESIDENT TAKEN BY DEATH TUESDAY MORNING

Manuel Oliveira Aged Niles Man Passes At His Home

Manuel Oliveria was claimed by death at his home in Niles Tuesday morning following an extended period of illness. He was eighty-three years of age at the time of his passing. He is survived by a wife, Marina Oliveria, a daughter, Mrs. Mae Smith, of San Carlos, and a former ward, Edward Oliveria, of Niles.

Oliveira was a native of the Azores Islands, but had been a resident of this region for the past sixty years. Funeral services will be held this afternoon, Thursday, from his late home, followed by requiem high mass at Corpus Christi church, Niles. Interment will take place in Holy Ghost cemetery, Centerville.

Niles Physician Very Much Alive; Rumor False

The rumor of Doctor Morrison's death, current in Niles last week, is, as Mark Twain said about himself, slightly exaggerated.

Doctor Morrison is glad to inform his host of friends hereabouts that his illness of last week was nothing more serious than an attack of rheumatism. The Doctor will return sometime this week from Sacramento, where he has been visiting his daughter.

NILES WOMAN HURT WHEN CAR STRIKES HORSE ON HIGHWAY

Mrs. Ted Econome Injured Seriously In Wreck Near Overacker

While driving from San Jose at eleven o'clock Monday night Mr. and Mrs. Ted Econome, of Niles, ran into a horse which was loose on the highway near Overacker. Econome was traveling at approximately forty miles per hour when the horse loomed up directly in the middle of the road. Econome was unable to avoid a collision. The animal was killed and Econome's car, a sedan, was completely wrecked. Mrs. Econome received painful cuts about the mouth and eyes and serious lacerations of the left knee. She was treated by a local physician.

As yet definite ownership of the horse has not been ascertained. The animal had apparently been tied, since a short section of chain was dangling from its neck at the time of the accident.

TAX LEAGUE PLANS MASS MEETING AT SCHOOL

Members of the welfare committee of the Tax Payers League of Washington township met last Monday night at the high school About forty members were present. Will Patterson presided in the absence of President George Roeding, who was called away to Sacramento on business.

W. Burr, of Hayward, was speaker of the evening. He gave an outline of welfare work methods in Oakland, and explained plans adopted by the County to place all relief work in the hands of a group to be directly responsible to the board of supervisors. The welfare committee of the league is making a survey of cases in the township, in view of removing unworthy persons, from the charity list.

Plans were discussed for the mass meeting to be held sometime in the near future at the Washington Union High school auditorium. The schools committee and the welfare committee will report at the mass meeting. The speaker of the evening has not

CHAMBER HEARS PROMINENT SPEAKER AT MONDAY MEET

Dr. James M. Neill Tells of Political Evils In Government

"Is Democracy Still Possible," was the topic of Dr. James M. Neill, member of a prominent Oakland service club, at the Monday noon meeting of Niles Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Neill deplored lack of concern of the public at large in eradicating evils so apparent in local, state and federal governments. He stated that graft in government originated under the political philosophy of Alexander Hamilton. The Jacksonian spoils system added many channels of federal misuse of tax funds. Harding's administration was the culminating era of unbridled dishonesty in government, he said.

The American people have been reared, he said, with a habit of allowing politicians free rein. Even when graft becomes shameless and undisguised, the public generally is slow to correct the evil. This may be attributed to a sort of cultural lag, he said, which deadens the senses of people to the point where they do not realize the exact situation surrounding them. Energetic communities and groups are eradicating this lag by diligently seeking facts of cost and expenditure in their local governments, and by exerting pressure for support of eleven bills now before the legislature. He said that state chamber of commerce asks the support of all local chambers throughout the state.

Graft in the numerous branches of local, state and federal governments has grown to such proportions that one dollar out of three in the wealth of the nation goes for government costs.

In discussing the plight of business during the present times, Dr. Neill said that the fable of "Rugged American Individualism" has been exploded by necesity of cooperation in business administration. The policy of letting the other fellow take all loss is outworn.

F. H. Woodward, of the Oakland Chamber of Cmmerce was a guest at the luncheon. It was through his courtesy that Dr. Neill was obtained as speaker.

The chamber appointed a committee to decide what part shall be taken by the Niles chamber in the Livermore Rodeo parade to be held at 10:00 a. m., May 13. Harvey Braun, Ralph V. Richmond and E. F. Glasbrook were appointed to the committee.

LEGIONAIRES COMMEND PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT FOR ECONOMY PROGRAM

Reductions Will Effect All Veterans Work and Dispensation

Washington Township Post No. 195, American Legion, has drafted a resolution in which they commend Pres. Franklin Delano Roosevelt for his tireless efforts in effecting economies and in introducing relief measures designed to cope with the present national emergency brought on by the depression. Local legionires expressed enthusiasm and wholeherted approval of President Roosevelt's policies even though some of the more drastic reductions will be in the dispensations to disabled veterans and in fact all veterans. Their example in this respect might well be followed by other classes drawing salaries from county, state and nation governments.

Following is the resolution:

Resolution

Adopted by Washington Township Post No 195, American Legion, at regular meeting, Wednesday, April 12, 1933, Memorial building, Niles:

Whereas, Our National Commander, Louis Johnson, on the day following President Roosevelt's inaugural oath pledged the million members of the American Legion to give their utmost loyalty and help in the complex and difficult problems now facing the chief executive and our nation because of the present depression of long standing and

Whereas, Congress through legislation, has given to the President the authority to put into effect certain economies which the President believes necessary to

WORK OR GET OUT

Washington Township and north Santa Clara county has had a taste of real labor agitation and rioting. Gas bombs have been used and police clubs have been swung in an attempt to disperse organized pea pickers and spinach workers who have attempted to tie up the harvest unless an increase in wages was granted.

The trouble has been unfortunate to the growers and the pickers. While the wage paid is, admittedly, low, it is all that the wholesale price of peas warrants. In fact the grower, as usual, is making nothing. If he met the demands of the field laborers, he would have absolutely nothing left for himself. The situation is deplorable from every standpoint. But it is an universal condition. It is merely a question now of "getting by." And that means, eating, and a bed to sleep in or blankets to roll up in. It is not a pretty picture.

Ordinarily, the sympathy of the writer is with labor. But labor should use common, horse sense. Recently, organized labor and unorganized labor have shown very clearly that they cannot or will not appreciate the terrible strain on the individual business man and the incorporated companies that are trying desperately to keep the wheels of industry going, and succeeding largely by using up every dollar of surplus capital that they have accumulated by hard work and thrift.

Any able bodied man who refuses to work at a wage that will give him needed food and shelter is a menace to the stability of this government, now under an economic pressure that threatens any moment to break down the whole structure, perfected by generations of toil and study.

It is a satisfaction to know, but not at all surprising, that the trouble here is largely the work of unnaturalized citizens. They have no thought of our precarious situation, nor do they care whether constituted authority and order prevail. In many cases—in fact in most cases—they lack the mental attainments necessary to understand political philosophy of any kind, even Communism, bandied about so indiscriminately by writers during the past few days. It appears that not a few reporters share with the pea strikers in their understanding of what Communism is and what it stands for. Profit is not a part of any of its tenets. So when a man strikes for higher wages, he is but part and parcel of our competitive system, and by no stretch of imagination a Communist. But that is a faddish word, and with some people's vocabulary and imagination very limited, it serves most handily.

The writer approves under the emergency of the situation the rather undemocratic and drastic action taken to stop the agitation of the pea strikers. The times are unusual. The farmer is in a pitiable condition, and with all his world of worries, he should not be harressed further by a lot of foreigners, whose presence we suffer for no good reason.

The order should be: Work or get out of the country, and stay out.

WILL ESCAPE THE NOOSE

Ruth Judd, the Arizona trunk murderess, will never hang. That is our opinion. She will not hang because of sympathy, or because she is thought to be insane. The insanity plea will offer a loophole for Arizonans to extricate themselves from the uncomfortable duty of hanging a woman by the neck until she is dead.

Some years ago a jury in that state found another woman guilty of first-degree murder and a judge sentenced her to the gallows. The court order was carried out promptly and relentlessly. The experience was nauseating to the gallant Westerners, and the whole thing was revolting to the finer qualities of Arizonans. After the execution was over, it was the opinion of the citizenry that it were better the full measure of justice be withheld, and a revolting criminal escape the full penalty of a crime rather than hang a woman.

It is apparent that the authorities are trying desparately to delay, and eventually cancel, the death penalty passed upon the Phoenix nurse who murdered, in the most diabolical manner, her two

ABATEMENT LEAGUE REPORTS NEW WORK DONE IN THIS AREA

1500 Feet of Ditches Dug In Marshes West of Newark

To forestall mosquito breeding, which is speeded up by warm weather, 207 cesspools in this district were inspected and oiled by Roland Bendel, inspector for the Alameda County Mosquito Abatement District. This oiling is part of the regular house-to-house inspection which must be made three or four times during the year to keep the mosquito nuisance under control.

Marshes west of Newark are in good condition this year, according to Bendel. An additional 1500 feet of ditches draining mosquito-breeding marshes in that area were dug last week. On Plummer's marsh a slight cave-in on one of the main ditches was repaired, new hinges were placed on a broken tide-gate and vegetation along the sloughs was cleared away.

NILES DRYER TO BE SITUATED IN NEW LOCATION

A Garcia, prominent grower and dryer of fruit at Niles, is moving his drying establishment from his place on Cherry Lane, to the Shinn ranch. Garcia will renovate, and add to, the dryer already situated there. According to Garcia, the change in being made to facilitate the handling of large quantities of fruit this coming season.

The new site is particularly desirable because of its freedom from dust and because of the steady westerly winds that blow over it. The Garcia dryer has been famous hereabouts for many years, being one of the oldest and largest establishments of its kind in this part of the county.

COLLECTOR SEEKS EARLY ITEMS OF CALIFORNIA

Rich archives of local historians, no doubt contain much lore, and many items of value to L. E. Sherow, Oakland collector of early California books, pictures, newspapers, etc. Sherow has recently expressed his anxiousness to secure such material.

This region, one of the oldest cultured areas of the state, should furnish much material of interest to a collector. Not only does Sherow wish to obtain items dating from conquest and acquisition of California by Americans, but he also desires to unearth any possible lore of the days of Spanish occupation.

Although he will inspect material dating to the last few years before nineteen hundred, he is more anxous to secure as much as possible of California items issued before 1880 and 1875.

It is of cultural advantage to the locality to furnish to a central collection, such as Sherow's, all of the historical material heretofore reposing in trunks, attics, and on old carriage house walls. It is an opportunity to bring to light much interesting data, previously known only to a few.

Mr. Sherow is running a display ad in this issue of the Register.

JURY DISAGREEMENT FOLLOWS CONFUSION BY TECHNICALITY

Centerville Swindlers Get New Superior Court Trial Soon

The much postponed trial of Gordon McCutcheon and Howard Jewell, alleged swindlers of several Centerville residents in a bogus stock scheme, took place in the superior court of Judge O. G. Ogden in Oakland last week. Trial began on Monday morning and was extended to Wednesday when the jury was unable to agree due to confusion over an interpretation of the law.

A new trial is to be held, time of which is not yet set. Before the trial on Monday this case was postponed twice.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rhenish, of Alameda, spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dusterberry, parents of Mrs. Rhenish. They were acompanied by a friend, C. Shaeffer.

restore the financial stability of our country and

Whereas, we realize that this new legislation passed by Congress is fraught with gnavest consequences to the disabled veteran and a cost in sacrifice to all veterans in general, but not withstanding this and because our country is at present involved in great financial difficulties, we believe that our first duty is to God and Country, as set forth in the Premamble of our constitution of the American Legion, and

Whereas, our National Commander has issued a message and appeal to our more than 10,000 American Legion Posts, calling upon them to support the President of the United States in the present emergency and

Whereas, the time to render that service has arrived and we believe it is the purpose of our great organization to act and set an example for all citizens to follow in giving to our President and Government our utmost faith and assistance, wherever it is needed and whatever the necessary cost in sacrifice may be;

Now, Therefor, Be It Resolved, by Washington Township Post No. 195, American Legion, Niles, California, that we hereby approve the action taken by our National Commander at this time and in accordance with same, give our wholehearted support and help to the President of the United States, having every faith in the discretion, fairness and the justice with which the President will deal with this problem—involving as it does in many instances the need for compassion and mercy and; Be It Further

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be entered upon the records of Washington Township Post No. 195, American Legion, and a copy forwarded to the President of the United States and a copy to our National Commander.

Street Project Now Reaches Completion

Frank Madruga Reports Latest Developments In Name Selecting

According to Frank Madruga, president of the Lions Club at Centerville, the street naming controversy has been settled. Difference of opinion was first made evident in the case of what was formerly known as School street.

A new name, Mission View Way, was decided upon, after considerable deliberation. Other names proposed were Sunset Drive, and Allen Way. The latter name was submitted by members of Washington Township Country Club, in commemoration of Mrs. C. H. Allen, first president of that organization. Importance of the country club was stressed by advocates of the proposed name, Allen Way. It was held that the institution of the country club, prior to 1900, was a leading factor in unifying Washington township into a solid and congenial series of communities.

Mission View Way was selected because of an excellent view of Mission Peak afforded from the street. Madruga expressed some concern over the fact that this name would not fit into the size of name plaques being purchased.

Main street wil lremain as such, divided into North and South sections by the Southern Pacific railroad tracks. Both proposed names, Hesperian boulevard and Telegraph Road, have been discarded in favor of the old name. Palm Court will be the name of the blind street at Botelho's Funeral Parlors. Bellavera Court, another blind street, is a composite name made up from Bell and Oliveria. Belleavera Court extends to William Zimmerman's garage.

Washington avenue is the lane between the high school property and Doring's place. Its continuation across the highway to Grey's ranch has the same name. The street into Sack City, north of Centerville, has been tentatively named Alder street, in accordance with Indian references to Alder trees along an old stream channel there.

Another street that furnished wide possibilities for disagreement was the highway connecting Centerville and Niles. Centerville terminus had chosen to call this boulevard Fremont road, using the name of the famous pathfinder because of his passage through this area prior to 1874. Niles end of the highway objected, according to reports, on historical grounds, maintaining that Fremont's passage was along a road that no longer exists, but that once extended diagonally from Mission San Jose to Centerville. However, since Fremont road has already been decided upon the name will remain.

Suggestions have been made by various people in Washington township that use of appropriate Spanish names would be most suitable to a region so rich in early Spanish legend and fact. Such names would be more applicable to this region in the eyes of outsiders who regard it in the light of an historically sinificant township.

Madruga expressed satisfaction with the splendid work of the street naming committee, members of which were Chick Santos, chairman; Dr. G. S. Holeman, Manuel Alameda, P. C. Hansen, and Judge Allen G. Norris William Dutra was the surveyor for the project. The Centerville Chamber of Commerce will, according to Frank Dusterberry, assist in purchase of necessary street sgns.

DISCUSSION OF TAX CUTS CARRIED ON BY LIVERMORE AND PLEASANTON TRUSTEES

Modesto Proposes Slash of $90,000 In School Budgets

Recently a meeting of thirty-five trustees of Murray and Pleasanton townships, and a group from the tax committee of Alameda County Farm Bureau, assembled in Veterans' Memorial building at Livermore to discuss school costs and possible economies with a view to affecting reductions in tax rates for the ensuing fiscal year.

Although no definite conslusions were reached all those who participated in this discussion agreed that they would advocate any feasible reductions. Trustees from various school districts presented reports dealing with existing conditions in their units. Suggestions applicable to situations where expenditures were to be curtailed were presented and taken under advisement.

Livermore high school trustees, who cut their budget very substantially, including teachers' salaries, at the beginning of the fall term, offered information as to means of accomplishing still further reductions for the benefit of other school officials who might wish to do likewise but lack knowledge of the most effective procedure.

H. L. Wente, president of the tax committee, occupied the chair at this meeting, which was attended by representatives of the following schools: Livermore high and grammar, Pleasanton high and grammar, Dublin, Sunol and Greenville grammar schools.

Another meeting of this nature was held in Modesto last week, at which time a saving of about $90,000 was planned for the Modesto school system by the board of education of that city. Reductions will go into effect beginning July, at the start of the tax year. Modesto also reduced teachers' salaries at the opening of the school term last fall, and are now following up this reduction with substantial cuts all along the line.

The reduction in Modesto school costs has been worked out so that all schools will share equally, it was reported. Slashes will take in salaries of high, grammar and secondary schools, and junior college faculty members and in some instances classes will be discontinued entirely.

Last year a cut approximating fifty per cent of the total expentures was effected, which brought a material decrease in school tax. A graduated scale will be employed in reductions of salaries. Need of immediate tax relief was the resaon given for the proposed additional economies.

DEISEL POWER IS INSTALLED BY J. C. SHINN

After some months of experimentation, J. Shinn, Jr., Niles farmer, has concluded that deisel power is entirely suited to the needs of orchardists. Shinn's engine, a fifteen houre-power, of the horizontal type, was installed during the fall of last year, and since that time has operated for a total of approximately one thousand hours. Some of the runs were of duration of more than one hundred hours continuous pumping.

According to Shinn, this engine is very easy to start, and due to few moving parts, as well as to the absence of electric ignition, is seldom disabled by ailments common to gasoline motors. Fuel used is a light deisel oil or stove oil, Shinn said.

The installation at the Shinn ranch is the first small deisel unit to be used for all-'round irigation purposes in the valley near Niles. Its efficient peformance may presage a wide adaptation of deisel power to the demands of valley farmers.

NORMA SHEARER TAKES LEAD IN O'NEILL'S PLAY

Cecilel B. De Mille's spectacular masterpiece, "The Sign of the Cross," featuring Frederic Marsh, Elissa Landi, Claudette Colbert and Charles Laughton is showing at the Hayward theater tonight, Friday and Saturday nights, April 20, 21 and 22.

For Sunday and Monday nights, April 23 and 24,, the attraction is the incomparable Marie Dressler in "Emma." Also "Fangs of Death Valley."

On Tuesday night, April 25, for one night only, the feature will be Sylvia Sidney's latest starring vehicle, "Madame Butterfly." Tuesday night will be Glassware night.

Norma Shearer and Clark Gable are starred in Eugene O'Niell's "Stange Interlude" on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, April 26, 27 and 28. "Strange Interlude" has been one of the leading pictures of the year. Its first runs on the Pacific Coast were of unusual length.

Preparation for Flower Show Completed this Week

Members of the Niles Wildflower Show committee met last week at the home of J. E. Townsend, and final plans were drafted for the show which is to be presented April 23 and 24 at Rose Garage, Niles. J. E. Townsend, chairman of the committee, stated that members were jubilant over prospects for the coming display, feeling that through the fine co-operation of local people in offering assistance in collection of specimens this show would be better in every way than any held heretofore.

As yet there are several sections which have not been assigned and anyone wishing to aid the committee may volunteer in the specimen hunt by merely submitting their names to either A. J. Petsche or W. E. Jones, committeemen.

Following are rules by which specimen hunters may be guided when obtaining flowers. Each variety should be grouped separately as collected, using a small rubber band looped loosely around the stems to secure them. Specimans should not be held or carried around for an extensive period. It is advisable to provide a cardboard box or basket for this purpose and flowers should be placed within as soon as possible after being gathered. Only enough flowers of each variety for display should be taken; usually three to four large blooms or eight to ten of the smaller being necesasry. Two or three specimens of "Mules Ear" make a good display, while it takes about ten sprays of "For-Get-Me-Nots" to show up properly.

Searchers are urged not to overlook flowers. Very often some of the most insignificant-appearing flowers prove to be rare specimens. Ferns and grasses are not to be ignored, either, as they are listed under wild flowers. Some of the most favored sites of ferns in Alameda county are in Niles and Morrison canyons.

Flowers that cannot be delivered promptly to the showrooms should be placed in water as soon as possible. This water should be first prepared by adding two teasponsful of sugar and one aspirin tablet to each quart of lquid as this aids in prolonging the life of the flowers.

Judging from inquiries from other communities it is believed that advertising has reached much farther this year than any before and it is quite possible that attendance at the affair will be increased to 3000 or more.

farmers. Charity workers expressed an opinion that such action would be of great effect in breaking the strike.

According to reports from the sheriff's office late last week, strikers would soon find it impossible to operate in this region, due to prompt official action in dealing with violence and unlawful activities. It was predicted that this week would see a general return to work in the fields, and the complete dissolving of the strikers' "Union."

In Santa Clara county, reports say, many men were employed late last week in the pea fields. Most of the workers were from various employment agencies in San Jose. Officials there said waiting lists of employment bureaus would furnish many men willing to pick peas for nineteen cents a hamper, the price now being paid around San Jose and Santa Clara.

Suggestions that the strikers be deported met serious objection, due to the fact that so many of the agitators were from Porto Rico, which island is a possession of the United States. Extensive legislation would have been necessary to legalize such deportation.

DEATH CLAIMS OLD RESIDENT OF PLEASANTON

A member of one of Pleasanton's first pioneer families passed away when Henry William Koopman answered the call of his Master at a Livermore hospital Sunday.

Koopman was born and raised on the Koopman estate, about two miles from Pleasanton, and there he spent the greater portion of his life.

Koopman was affectionately known as Uncle Bill. He was a mechanic and jeweler by trade in his early days, but in recent years devoted his time to fixing bicycles for the younger set among whom he won a wide circle of friends.

When he was fifteen years of age he went to Germany where he spent a year learning the trade of jeweler. Upon his return to Pleasanton he located in a shop in the Thiessen building on Main street, where he worked until two days prior to his death.

For the past four years he had been suffering with heart trouble and his death was not unexpected by the members of the family. A paralytic stroke which caused a blood clot in the brain brought his sudden passing. Koopman wes sixty-four years of age, and had been a bachelor all his life.

He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Koopman, pioneer farmers of the Amador Valley. He leaves a half-brother, John Thiessen, Sr., of Pleasanton.

Funeral services were conducted at the Graham mortuary Tuesday afternoon by Reverend R. C. Cross, followed by cremation at an Oakland Crematorium.

Pleasanton Girl Keeps December Wedding Secret

Miss Audrey Blacow Reveals Secret at Recent Shower

Coming as a surprise to her many friends was the announcement of the marriage of Miss Audrey Blacow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blacow, of Pleasanton, to Fred Vogt, of Oakland, at a shower given by a number of her friends at the Blacow residence recently.

Miss Blacow was secretly married in San Diego last December to Fred Vogt, a graduate of the University of California, and now of Oakland.

Miss Blacow was born and raised in Pleasanton, and is well known there. She is a graduate of the Pleasanton grammar and of the Amador Valey High schools and atended the University of California, where the romance of the young couple originated.

While at the university, Miss Blacow took part in several social functions as a pianist. During her freshman year she was elected a member of the deputations committee visiting high schools in the state to demonstrate the work that is being done at college. She is a member of the Laulbla Omega sorority.

Vogt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Vogt, of San Diego. He attended a San Diego college, and upon entering the University of California he majored in the study of economics.

Mr. and Mrs. Vogt are now living in Oakland where Vogt is employed.

Pleasanton City Taxes To Become Due

Monday, April 24, is the last day for the citizens of Pleasanton to pay the second installment of their property taxes, according to John Delucchi, chief of police and tax collector.

Unpaid taxes after Monday will have a five per cent penalty added to the present amounts. Everyone is urged to try to pay their second insallment before the 24th, to avoid the additional cost.

Pleasanton Lodge Does Not Hold Easter Egg Hunt

Members Will Not Hold Annual Hunt Due To Depression

Members of the Catholic Daughters of Pleasanton did not hold their annual Easter Egg Hunt for the kiddies of the St. Augustines parish this year.

The ladies stated that the hunt is not to be discontinued but due to conditions this year the affair had been dropped for the time being. In the past, this hunt has been a yearly feature on the Saturday immediately preceeding Easter Sunday, on the Parish hall grounds in Pleaasnton.

Members also decided to hold their annual card party on Tuesday evening, May 22, at the Parish Hall. This affair is for the benefit of the Catholic Daughters court. Mrs. Nell Reimers was appointed to work at the head of this committee.

The Pleasanton court will receive the official visit of Eleanor R. Kearns, of Berkeley, district deputy, in May. A reception will be held following the business meeting honoring the distinguished guest. Those in charge of the refreshments will work under Ida Rabello, grand regeant, and assisted by Kate Tehan and Mrs. Joseph Vizzolini.

Six Traffic Violators Appear at Court in Pleasanton

Five traffic violators contributed $10 apiece when they appeared before Judge Charles A. Gale, at the Pleasanton Justice Court, Tuesday morning, as a sacrifice for speeding and cutting in on the highways during the past couple of weeks.

Five cases were continued for another week, one judgement suspended, one warrant issued, and one commitment to jail.

A ten dollar fine was levied in the City Court, on a violator who was picked up by John Delucchi, police chief, for speeding through town.

girl companions who, with her, shared in illicit love affairs with married men. The three, from published reports, were all addicted to dope, and were morally depraved. Culminating their vices in a tragedy that shocked the country was but a natural sequence of their preverted existence.

Ruth Judd should hang. While capital punishment appears to some as reverting to barbarity, it is nevertheless a necessary measure to put fear into the hearts of morons. The shadow of the noose before their diseased brains is the only deterrent to crime that they can understand.

But Ruth Judd will never hang, because the he-men of the West cannot stand the spectacle of a woman's body dangling at the end of a piece of hemp.

Amador Dons Wipe up on Livermore Nine by Score of 12 to 3

Coach George Patterson Uses First and Second Strings

In a seven inning game played at the Amador field, Pleasanton, Friday afternoon, the Amador Dons defeated the Livermore Cowboys by a score of 12 to 3.

Hansen started on the mound for the Dons, and was relieved by Dutra, who pitched an exceptonally good game retiring the Cowboys several times in one, two, three order.

Freddy Dutra lined out a home run with two men on the bases, and Joseph Peters, first basemen got three hits out of four trips to bat.

Bridges and Canziani formed the battery for Livermore while Hansen and Dutra pitched for the Dons, with Bud Perry on the receiving end.

The Amador pitchers struck out thirteen, walked three and allowed six hits. Livermore pitchers fanned five, walked six, and allowed ten hits.

Coach Patterson used both his first and second string players. Those seeing action in the battle were Hansen and Dutra, pitchers, B. Perry, catcher, J. Peters, first, Reimers, second, Cintrone, short, Mello, Safreno and F. Peters, third, Haas, left field, Hardy, Gibson and Silva, center field and Bernard and John Perry, right field.

Geological Sketch of the United States of America

United States has an area of 3,026,791 square miles. Length from north to south is 1,780 miles, width from east to west is 3,100 miles, and the coastline 21,354 miles.

The mineral supply is one of the chief natural resources. It has extensive production in coal, iron, oil and silver. The deposits of gold, quicksilver, lead and copper are very great. In the West and Northwest there are dense forests of pine, spruce, birch and maple; in the Southeast the cedar, pine and many valuable hardwoods abound; in the east-central part grow oak, maple, hickory, elm and other useful trees, while in California are found the giant sequoia trees. The great agricultural region, growing three-fourths of the corn and wheat crop of the world and half the tobacco crop, is in the central and southern part of the country.

Total railway mileage, 270,000. Total tonnage of American shipping is over 7,000,000. There are more than 290 streams in the country used to a substantial degree for navigation, with an approximate navigable mileage of 26,400.

Washington, D. C., is the capital; other important cities: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Buffalo, San Francisco and Milwaukee.

Submarine Mountains Form Chain Not Unlike Rockies

The United States coast and geodetic survey recently explored, off the coast of New England, submarine mountains forming a chain not unlike the Rockies. A counterpart of the Grand canyon was also found in Corsair gorge, a ravine two miles wide, with a slope of 45 degrees in places and a height of 1,800 feet. Transatlantic liners pass over "scenery" as bold as any the passengers on board may be en route to see.

These great canyons and gorges, it is believed, are the result of river erosion at a time when New England was a plateau at least a mile and a half above sea level. The canyons resemble river valleys, with branching tributaries like those of the western canyons. Another surmise regarding this formation is that the gorge was the result of a gash left by a giant glacial landslide, which slipped from the continent to a depth of 6,000 feet below the present surface level of the water.

Creation of Perfumes

Every good perfumer has in mind something that he wishes to depict when he creates a new fragrance. Perhaps it is merely a memory, as in one fragrance, a success of the moment, which was born of the memory of a brilliant state occasion at a royal court. Another embodies the essence of the English spring, breathing the scent of countless flowers gracing gardens of English countrysides. Still another creation is reminiscent of a visit to the Orient, with its rich color, its pageantry and, behind everything, its mystery. Another odor, an almost instantaneous success, is a vital one, suggesting beauty with candor and strength of character. A delightful fragrance was inspired by the scent of ferns at twilight, when this delicate plant gives off its fragrance.

Kangaroo in Africa

The perplexing question of the long lost continent of Lemuria was revived by the finding of some old bones in Africa. In one of the famous marine terraces of Namaqualand Dr. W. Beetz, chief geologist of the Anglo-American Corporation of South Africa, unearthed some ancient bones of an animal belonging to the marasupial or kangaroo family. Since kangaroos have been entirely unknown in Africa, either in prehistoric or historic times, the question of how these bones got there revived discussion of a lost continent between Africa and Australia or between Africa and South America.—Pathfinder.

London's Garbage Disposal

Ancient scandal is found in London's antiquated disposal of its garbage. It is simply taken to a lonely spot outside the city and dumped. There is one at Crayford which has been used for seventy years and another at Hornchurch which is ninety feet high and grows by 350,000 tons every year. The chemistry of its decomposition gives off a cloud of smoke visible a mile away. There is another dump near the home of George Bernard Shaw, but even his vigorous protests over the smell and flies have not changed things.—Montreal Herald.

Blind Man Plans to Go Places on Tandem Bike

Granite Pass, Ore.—"Blind George," whose fingertips serve faultlessly as eyes in the conduct of his confectionery and news stand here, says he's tired of feeling his way about the city. He plans to buy a tandem bicycle and put a chauffeur in the pilot's seat.

BIG INCOMES HAVE DECLINED SHARPLY

Only 3,142 Get More Than $100,000 a Year in U. S.

Washington.—That group of American citizens who pay about 97 per cent of the income taxes collected by the federal government—citizens whose incomes are more than $100,000 a year—have sharply declined during the last four years, reports the Treasury department. In 1928 there were 15,780 persons with incomes in excess of $100,000. Today there are about 3,142.

Taxes collected on the incomes of persons in this group totaled $107,896,000 last year, as compared with $237,716,000 the previous year. The number of taxpayers having net incomes of $5,000 or over declined 27.1 per cent, and the taxes dropped 49.4 per cent, with 566,120 persons paying $233,933,000. The net incomes of these persons decreased from $16,299,000,000 in 1928 to $10,199,000,000 in 1930 and to $6,489,000,000 in 1931.

Income from sale of real estate and stock dropped from $1,843,000,000 in 1928 to $550,000,000 in 1931, while losses deducted increased from $170,000,000 in 1928 to $987,000,000 in 1930 and to $989,000,000 in 1931.

Income from salaries and commissions dropped from $4,700,000,000 in 1928 to $4,159,000,000 in 1930 and to $3,154,000,000 in 1931.

Dividends decreased from $3,929,000,000 in 1928 to $3,622,000,000 in 1930 and to $3,154,000,000 in 1931. Businesses and partnerships which reported incomes of $3,291,000,000 in 1928 decreased to $1,974,000,000 in 1930 and dropped to $1,236,000,000 in 1931, according to department figures.

Various Types of Iris

The genus Moraca represents the Iris of the southern hemisphere. In Africa and Australia, where various species are found, the flower is called iris by the settlers, who have at the same time some of the true iris forms in their gardens. The most familiar and beautiful Moraea is that called the wedding iris, an Australian flower which grows in company with the New Zealand flax and other similar plants in our conservatories. The flower closely resembles an iris, as does the plant. The rootstock is slender and short, bearing regularly placed equidistant rows of rigid leaves. It is propagated from young plants, produced at the end of long, slender flowering shoots, by cutting up the rhizomes, or by seeds which are abundantly formed.

When One Is Near Drowning

When Shakespeare has the duke of Clarence in "Richard III" relate a dream of how he thought he was drowned and past events came to his mind, he and other writers started the fanciful error that drowning persons always recall their past sins. Modern physicians and the testimony of those who have narrowly escaped drowning apparently disprove it.

Knew What She Wanted

A negro woman walked into an insurance office and asked whether they dealt in fire insurance.

"We do," a clerk replied. "What do you want insured?"

"Mah husband."

"Then you don't want fire insurance," smiled the clerk, as he reached for another application form. "What you want is a life insurance policy."

"No, Ah don't," exclaimed the woman. "Ah wants fire insurance. Mah husband's been fired fo' times in de las' two weeks."

Fish Resembles Pelican

A rare deep-sea fish with a long eel-like body has its jaws, throat and stomach so distended as to resemble the pouch of a pelican. This characteristic which gives it the name "pelican fish" is sometimes responsible for its death for it enables it to swallow fishes too large for it to handle. Individuals of one species of this remarkable family of fishes have been known to swallow fishes larger than themselves.

Cigarets Have Been Used Over One Hundred Years

The cigaret is 100 years old, but the conditions of its birth are so obscure that the world is not celebrating its centennial.

Like many another famous invention, the cigaret's creation was due to an accident. The generally accepted story is that it was born in 1832, during the seige of Saint Jean d'Arc by the soldiers of Ibrahim Pasha, viceroy of Egypt.

Legend says that the Egyptian soldiers were faced by an emergency. A camel caravan had brought a great quantity of Turkish tobacco, but another caravan loaded with pipes had been captured by the Turks. The soldiers had plenty of tobacco and wanted to smoke, but in the absence of pipes, were obliged to find a substitute.

An officer solved the problem by rolling a pinch of tobacco in a piece of tissue paper and enjoyed the smoke. The news spread over the camp and those who could not find tissue paper used a type of India paper.

The French tobacco monopoly administration, without verifying that picturesque legend admits that the cigaret came to Europe from the Near East, carried back by navigators. As far as France is concerned, the oldest official document is an order signed by Louis-Philippe on October 22, 1843, which authorizes the royal factory to manufacture cigarets.—Detroit Free Press.

Scenic Ecuador Smallest South American Republic

Travelers are discovering that Ecuador, lying on the Equator, along the west coast of South America, is one of the most unspoiled places in the Western hemisphere. This country was inhabited, long before Columbus ever dreamed that the world was round, by prehistoric races whose origin is shrouded in mystery.

Although it is the smallest of South American republics, Ecuador boasts the most startling scenic contrast of any place of its size on the continent; two of the highest peaks of the Andes, Chimborazo and Cotopaxi about 20,000 feet high; and fertile valleys and coastal plains yielding sugar, coffee, tobacco, cotton and vegetable ivory.

From Guayaquil a spectacular railroad route leads through dense jungles and magnificent mountain scenery to Quito, the capital, which rests almost 10,000 feet above sea level. Quito—along with Mexico City, and Cuzco, ancient capital of the Incas—antedates the white man's discovery of America. Its exact age is unknown.

Goethe's Lineage

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe was a direct descendant of Charlemagne. This is the claim of Professor Schroeder, noted German historian, of the University of Tuebingen, who has carefully studied the list of ancestors of the famous German poet, the hundredth anniversary of whose death was marked by memorial festivities throughout entire Europe. According to Professor Schroeder, the wife of an ancestor of Goethe in the eleventh generation, Frau Kuntzel Dietz, was the illegitimate daughter of Duke Henry III of Hessia. Following this line, Professor Schroeder came to the astounding discovery that Charlemagne was one of the early ancestors of the famous German poet.

The Stamp Collector

A missionary had delivered a lecture relating his experiences in various parts of the world. He concluded with an earnest appeal for funds to keep up the good work, and added that even the children would be welcome to give their mite.

When the meeting was over he was pleased to see a boy pressing forward to meet him. He held out a hand to the boy and said: "I'm glad to see you, my little man. I always take a great interest in children. I suppose you would like to contribute to the cause."

"Well," replied the little boy, "what I wanted to ask was whether you have any foreign stamps to give away?"—Pathfinder.

Beth's Duty

By CLARISSA MACKIE

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service

WHEN Beth Raynor set out that June morning to collect the dues of the private library of which she was treasurer, she had no idea that she was about to meet the most trying period of her life.

The doctor's wife, Mrs. Penny, had promptly brought out a fat pocketbook and paid her dues.

Beth never forgot that hour at Mrs. Bleak's house.

Mrs. Bleak had given Beth a dainty blue check to cover the amount of her dues as a library member, and leaned confidentially toward Beth.

"My dear," she began in a low tone, "I understand that you are engaged to marry Donald Blake?"

Beth blushed and admitted that it was true, at the same time remembering that Donald worked in Mr. Bleak's office.

"Of course that is quite lovely, my dear," said Mrs. Bleak cordially, "but of course you will not be getting married just yet?"

"We did speak of next winter some time," murmured Beth.

"So soon?" the lady lifted her hands in horror.

"Why not?" asked Beth bluntly.

"My dear," purred Mrs. Bleak, "I was just thinking about what my husband said about Donald's career!"

"What about it?"

"I am really quoting my husband, and he would be very angry with me if he had ever known that I had told what he confided to me—but I feel that you should know. Beth—it is a woman's duty to make sacrifices, you know!"

"I know," said Beth dully.

"Well, I will be perfectly frank with you, trusting that you will not mention a word to Donald—Azariah told me last night that he was pleased with Donald's work during the past two years—and said that he wanted to advance him to a junior partnership provided Donald can raise the necessary money for investment in the firm—merely a matter of form, you know, my dear!"

"Yes, of course," said Beth calmly.

"You may have heard that Mr. Bleak does not approve of young men marrying when they are too young, or before they are really settled in business, and he went on to say that if Donald really intended to marry very soon, that he would not offer him the partnership but give it to Ferdinand Piper, who, as you know, is a confirmed bachelor!"

Another moment, and Beth was out of the house and going down the prim walk, her mind a chaos of doubt and rebellion.

Why, she had planned to be the greatest help to Donald! Beth was an accomplished housekeeper, and she had always worked at home with her mother in the old-fashioned way. Her father had a very good business.

That night after she arrived home Beth talked with her parents. She never told a word of what Mrs. Bleak had said to her, but she suggested that she would like to go to the mountains where her aunt had a summer school, and teach there! And they consented, and when she told Donald the next day, and casually explained that she wanted a change, he, too, cordially agreed with her—and so Beth Raynor went, and left Donald free for promotion.

Toward the end of September, when the summer school ended, Donald Blake got into his motor car and with a word to Mr. and Mrs. Raynor, started for Beth's mountain retreat.

Beth was walking in the woods when the trees were flaming with the first frost touch. She had in a way enjoyed the summer, though she had missed her parents, and she had cruelly missed Donald.

Donald had already saved the money for their house, and the first year's living expenses had been planned with the thriftiness which had been a birthright. Had Mrs. Bleak really spoken the truth or was it only a woman's silly gossip?

It was then that Donald appeared and took Beth in his arms. "We want you at home," he told her gravely, and when at last she had taken farewell of her aunt, and they motored down the mountain roads towards home, he told how much he had missed her.

When they reached the town, Donald insisted on driving her through the business center, and suddenly he pointed to a new tall brick block that had grown during her absence. "My offices are up there," he told her. "During the summer, I decided that I could do better alone, and my office is now being rushed. Old Bleak was furious—told me I was making the mistake of my life to get married just now, and so—I just went ahead and had our house built according to our plans—" and just then they turned another corner and there was Beth's old home, and next door was the prettiest new bungalow, waiting for the finishing touches and Beth's opinion.

As for Beth's duty—it seems to be entirely in her own home and that of her parents, while young Donald's business is nearly equal to that of Azariah Bleak's!

Hearing a Pin Drop

"You could hear a pin drop."

I wonder how many people know the accepted origin of this phrase. I learned it quite by accident, while talking with an official at Lloyd's. Many years ago, I was told, it was customary to hold ship auctions at Lloyd's Coffee house on Tower Hill. Instead of a hammer, a pin was thrust into a lighted candle about an inch from the top; and the last bid made before the pin fell out of the melting tallow was accepted.

When this critical stage in the "Candle auctions"—as they were then called—was reached, a deathlike calm came over the assembly, to enable those present "to hear the pin drop."—London Post.

Land-Grabbing

Washington, D. C., was created from a swamp when a group of men which included Jefferson and Washington sold off city lots covered with woods and corn fields; Patrick Henry had a hand in the Georgia land frauds; Benjamin Franklin took a flier in real estate and lost; Robert Morris made paper profits by the millions and ended in a debtors' prison—all this in the history of land-grabbing.

Claims to Broadcast Heat, Light and Power

Kitchener, Ont.—A young Canadian radio enthusiast claims invention of an apparatus which would apply the theory of radio to the transmission of light and heat electrical energy units without the aid of wires.

The inventor, Frank Fedy, twenty-two, a former insurance agent, claimed he had successfully demonstrated his theory before a group of Toronto scientists. He said he had been offered financial backing to the extent of $30,000, but refused to divulge the name of the sponsor.

At the demonstration, Fedy said, he picked up a power broadcast from his transmitting station two blocks away. Fedy claims that his apparatus could be operated as a central transmitting station to broadcast power, heat and light to houses within a 100-mile radius.

The houses would be equipped with an aerial to extract the "juice rays" from the air, and, with a receiving set which, he claimed, could be manufactured to retail at a cost of $5 each.

Lost University Bell Is Found in Junk Pile

Berkeley, Calif.—"Old Bill—d—n him," ear splitting, booming bell in north hall, University of California's oldest building, has been "found" again.

"Old Bill," which received the additional cognomen, "D—n him," because for generations he thundered out the time in fifteen minute intervals night and day, has been discovered this time in a junk pile in the old zoology building of the university.

The old bell, brought around the Horn in 1859 and first used in the old College of California, predecessor of the University of California, has been "lost" repeatedly in recent years on student and faculty insistance.

In 1910 it was taken from storage to be used in connection with the fiftieth anniversary of the university. Since then it has appeared and disappeared. In 1925 it was "retired" because its great weight was endangering the old building.

Steals to Treat Girls

Vineland, N. J.—Because his mother couldn't give him money "to take girls to movies," Paul Matthews, schoolboy, became a thief, he confessed.

Wives Older Than Husbands

The Empress Josephine was older than Napoleon; Queen Catherine of Aragon was older than Henry VIII; Mary Stuart was older than Francis II of France; Jenny Lind older than Otto Goldschmidt; Disraeli's wife was his elder by fifteen years; Ann Hathaway Shakespeare was eight years older than her husband, Mrs. Warren G. Harding was older than the late President.

Cleanliness of Ants

Not the least interesting thing about ants is their instinctive cleanliness. They have been provided by Nature with their own combs and brushes which they use frequently to keep themselves tidy and free from particles of soil.

The Bulldog's Jaw

The undershot jaw and retreating nose of the bulldog are the results of specialized breeding to enable the dog to breathe freely and at the same time to hang on to its adversary's nose in the sport of bull baiting.

Waterproof Silk Raincoats

Research has developed a waterproof silk for raincoats, said to have superior resistance to heat and cold.

J. L. BUNKER PAYS OFFICIAL VISIT TO SCHOOL

Deputy School Superintendent J. L. Bunker visited the Newark school officially Monday afternoon. Mr. Bunker reported that his son, James, will be graduated from Berkeley this spring. The young man will continue his studies at the University of California, however, until he has been granted, first a master's and then a doctor's degree in history.

Mr. Bunker's second son, Jack, is a freshman in Berkeley, and his daughter, Betty, is a senior in an Oakland high school.

Miss Margaret Laudenslager, Newark school teacher who has been off duty the greater part of the year, is making progress toward a permanent recovery from the affliction that has kept her from her work.

Louis Ruschin, Jr., Stanford student in the medical department, is spending this quarter in Monterey county where he is doing research work in connection with his studies.

Lewis W. Musick, accampanied by Miss Dorothy Irwin, of Hanford, visited his parents and sister in Newark Saturday evening. The two young people are instructors in the Orland High school. They came to the bay section and attended the track meet at Berkeley, one to root for Berkeley and the other for Stanford.

A large crowd attended the dance given in the Newark pavilion Sunday afternoon. The Joy Boys' orchestra furnished the music.

Mrs. W. Laudenslager enjoyed her birthday, celebrated last week, to the utmost, and received many beautiful gifts from her friends.

VISITING MOTHER HERE

Mrs. J. Ward and children, of San Diego, are visiting with Mrs. Ward's mother, Mrs. M. Buckman, of Newark.

Mrs. Ward wil be remembered as the former Winifred Owen, recently returned from Honolulu where she made her home for two years. Mrs. Ward was a resident of Newark before she was married.

MEASURE WATER FLOW

William Dutra, Newark's civil engineer, aided a San Francisco engineer several days last week in measuring the flow of water passing through Niles Canyon. It was Dutra's first experience of the kind.

Mr. and Mrs. Eph. L. Musick and daughter, Beth, accompanied by Mrs. August Greenwald, of Long Beach, visited in Red Bluff several days of last week. They report the Sacramento Valley greatly in need of rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott and son, Bobby, are motoring to Montana where they will spend some time visiting with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Silva and daughter, Jeanette, and Mr. and Mrs. O. Zorn, all of Newark, spent Easter at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherine, of Oakland, in Santa Cruz.

Mrs. W. Laudenslager and daughter, Margaret, spent Saturday in Oakland.

A large crowd attended the Easter services at St. Edward's church, Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Cole and Miss Reva Bell motored to La Honda Sunday afternoon.

Leonard Grose and Clarence Springer plan to leave soon for Oklahoma. Both are natives of that state, and have relatives there. They are not certain whether they will remain in Oklahome permanently or return here.

A medicine that brightens people's lives

Fortunately for most of us, a state of happy health does not depend on strength. But like any other piece of machinery, the human machine must be properly regulated to run right.

There is a simple means of regulating the system. It makes an amazing difference in the way your organs function and the way you feel.

It pays most men and women to try this regulation. You may consider yourself in fairly good health today, and after only two weeks' regulating realize you were only half alive.

This means of stimulating the system to new life is a prescription, and it is known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It's derived from fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. Every druggist keeps it on hand. Get some today, and take some tonight.

Whole households have blessed this family doctor's prescription. It has saved old and young from sluggish spells—and from downright sickness. It's the only tonic you may need; the only laxative you need. It is the most likeable and remarkable medicine you ever tasted.

Try one bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and compare your condition with how you felt before!

SCOUT NEWS

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

By Marshall Green, Frank Ferry and Jack Townsend

COURT OF HONOR

A combined Court of Honor will be held by the two Niles troops during the latter part of April. Committeeman Marshall Green reports that some fine displays will be open to inspection.

All parents and others who are interested in scout work are urged to attend. Further reports on this meeting will appear in a later issue of the Register.

Committeeman Mashall Green was a visitor at the meeting of Niles Troop No 2, Monday evening. He displayed several very fine sketches and first-day covers from his private stamp collection.

Irvington Boy Scouts held their first outdoor meeting last Friday evening. Following a short business session a weinie roast was enjoyed by those present.

Members of Niles Troop No. 2 soon will have completed their first year as an organized group. Each scout has re-registered with the national council. This troop engages in regular scout activities.

Last week the Flaming Arrow patrol, of Irvington Boy Scout Troop No. 1, went on an overnight hike in the hills behind Mission Peak.

Scouts from both Niles troops will assist in gathering specimens for the annual Niles Wild Flower Show to be held April 23 and 24.

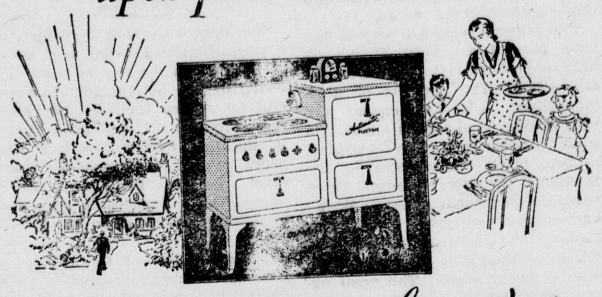
Members of the various committee expressed their hope that the public would attend and take a definite interest in the work at hand.

Now you can always depend upon punctual meals



ELECTRIC RANGES obey orders

Simplified Cooking BY ELECTRIC TIME CONTROL BY ELECTRIC TEMPERATURE CONTROL

...SO SIMPLE ...SO EASY TO OPERATE

GONE is all the hurry and worry in cooking. No more need for rush to meet meal time with meals on time. You hate all the last minute rush that makes you nervous trying to do half a dozen things at one time.

Well, you can put an end to all this and still have punctual meals every meal time, every day. The electric range permits women to prepare meals ahead of time, a half day ahead and more, and then like a second maid in the kitchen the electric time and temperature controls take charge of the actual cooking.

Why is this wonderful convenience possible? It's because the electric range is educating women to cook an easier, simpler way, preparing oven meals that are at once more economical, tastier, and more healthful.

Bring this new certainty of cooking into your home with an electric range that obeys orders. Enjoy the freedom it will give, the convenience, and yes, even the economy that its simpler cooking method brings. Make your selection of an electric range at the nearest P. G. and E. office or your electric dealer's store. Prices this year for electric ranges are no more than those for any other good range and purchase terms are liberal.

ELVIRA LAURENCE BECOMES BRIDE OF J. PERRY

At a beautiful Easter wedding Miss Elvira Laurence, of Oakland, became the bride of Joaquin Perry, of Irvington, Sunday afternoon in the St. Joseph's church with Rev. J. Leal officiating.

Carrying a bridal bouquet of Easter lillies, the bride, garbed in a white afternoon gown of satin was attended by Mamie Laurence, attried in an afternoon dress of pale pink silk with hat to match. She carried a bouquet of roses.

The Misses Louise Silva, Emily Laurence, and Carrie Perry acted as bridesmaids. They were beautifully gowned in pastel shades of blue, yellow and green and carried bouquets of roses.

Dainty little flower girls were Dorothy and Mabel Enos. The bridegroom was attended by Cecil Laurence.

After a short honeymoon, the young couple will make their home in Irvington.

Sam Coste has returned home from the French hospital in San Francisco, where he was ill for the past few weeks.

Freak Spring Storm Brings Snow to Peak

Early risers on Tuesday morning were greeted with the unusual spring spectacle of snow on Mission Peak. For the first time in years winter returned to lay a thin mantle over the mountain in April. By nine o'clock the increasing sunshine had swept the shallow covering away.

A freak spring storm, centering in vertical winds at the mouth of Niles canyon, battered the countryside with hail and rain and drove the populace of the surrounding area to shelter. Temperatures fell to new lows for April in the bay region, Mount Hamilton registered a minimum of twenty-five degrees. Damage to pea crops in both Santa Clara and Alameda counties was heavy, farmers report.

Apricot growers who failed to smudge near San Jose, said that they suffered a rather heavy loss due to frost. In some Santa Clara areas, loss was severe in spite of hasty smudging by farmers who were taken unawares by the sudden drop in temperature.

Little damage was reported by fruit producers in this erea, where the majority of orchards are situated on ground high enough to avoid the collection of heavy cold air. Due to almost ideal weather conditions this spring, the local apricot crop s a large one, farmers said.
